With the praise of his townsmen ringing in his ears, Glenn L. Martin, the Santa Ana aviator, on Wednesday evening at the Grand Opera House received a handsome diamond medal made for him as the gift of the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants & Manufacturers' Association.

That the audience, well filling the opera house, agreed heartily in the praise of the achievements of the Santa Ana aviator was evidenced time and again in bursts of applause.

Martin's aeronautical work and his many qualities were given high honor. That his success has brought credit upon the town that he calls his home was brought out by the various speakers of the evening.

Following the program, Martin stood in the lobby of the opera house, there shook hands with those who had gathered to do him honor, receiving congratulations and many a heartfelt expression of hope that no mishap would ever befall him in his air voyages.

On the stage were Glenn L. Martin and his manager, Roy Knabenshue, and the heads of his mechanical departments, William Stevens and Charles Day; N. A. Uim, secretary of the Merchants & Manufacturers' Association; G. W. Minter and J. C. Metzgar, president and secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and the speakers, Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Martin, Mrs. Knabenshue and Martin's secretary, Ben Riedland, were in the audience.

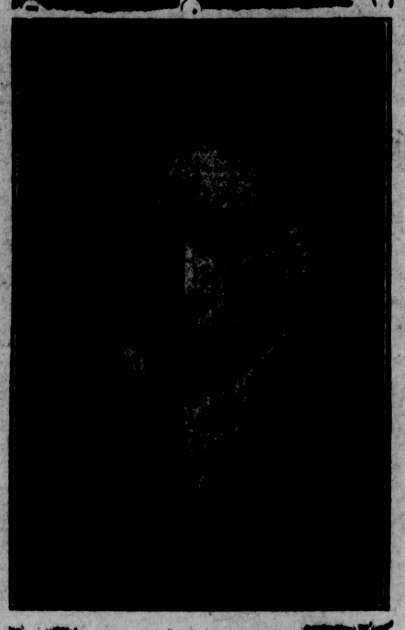

In its usual pleasing manner, the Santa Ana Band entertained the assembly with numerous selections during the evening.

"It is with pleasure that I am here tonight," said Frank Ey, president of the Board of Trustees, who was chairman of the evening, "to take part in these exercises showing the appreciation Santa Ana has for the achievements of this young man. Our fellow townsmen have brought attention to our city in all parts of the world. We honor him for what he has done for himself and for his country."

Assemblyman Clyde Bishop was introduced as the speaker of the evening. In his eloquent address, Bishop said in part:

"I hardly know my task on this occasion, for I certainly cannot be expected to praise the gentleman in whose honor this reception is tendered; for last Sunday, I saw him nearer to Heaven than I have ever been, flying higher than I ever hope to be. Yet I regard this mark of esteem on the part of the city of Santa Ana well earned by Mr. Martin and I only regret that it has been so long delayed. When I see men who are born to wealth and position I do not regard their accomplishments with any marked admiration but I do respect and admire the young man or woman with nothing but grit and honest ambition who carve out for themselves a name. I admire and respect the man whom we, as a city, honor tonight; not so much, Martin, because you have been beyond the clouds; not so much because you have in fact accomplished that which the wisdom of all ages has said lay beyond the power of man; but rather do you have my admiration because without assistance, in the face of one defeat after another, you ever struggled on with your heart and mind fixed on the goal of your desire. Now then you have gained success, the wealth of many and the applause of all will be at your command. When I saw you Sunday with perfect mastery come and go like a giant bird, I could not help but think of that afternoon, during the Carnival, when thousands had assembled to witness your first flight, of the bitterness of that day's defeat, and although I looked with awe at your accomplishment, I was able to comprehend the great struggle through which you have passed to gain success."

"I say to you, my fellow citizens, that it will become us to lay a firm hold upon this young man's future; for he is a man whose name should be applauded at home as well as abroad; because it is right that

ELEGANT BANQUET GIVEN BY DRAGON TO GLENN MARTIN

After the reception, the bird-man and those who were with him upon the stage were the guests of the Dragon at an elegantly served and sumptuous banquet. Twelve men sat down to the beautifully decorated round table, the centerpiece of which was surmounted by an eagle. In its appointments the banquet could not have been surpassed. The menu was the Dragon's very best, and that is speaking much, indeed. One of the cleverest features was the serving of ice cream in the shape of a butterfly.

After the banquet the guests sat for an hour listening to Martin and his manager, Roy Knabenshue, relate experiences of the air.

Knabenshue is a veteran in the flying game. He was the first man in America to fly. He has operated dirigible balloons in various cities of this country. He flew at the World's Fair at St. Louis. His highest ascension was 24,000 feet, that being by balloon. Knabenshue is now devoting his time to the management of Martin's flying.

ROOSEVELT WILL CONSENT TO NO COMPROMISE

Wires That Ohio's Will as Voiced by 30,000 Plurality Must Not be Frustrated

NOT SINGLE DELEGATE-AT-LARGE MUST GO TO TAFT

Colonel May go to Chicago—Dixon Scores New For Insult—to Only Living Ex-President

NEW YORK, May 31.—Although Colonel Roosevelt has declared that the chances are a thousand to one that he will not go to the Chicago convention, Medill McCormick, after interviewing the Colonel at the Outlook offices this afternoon refused to deny that Roosevelt may lead his own forces in Chicago. Under pressure Roosevelt admitted that he may yet change his plans.

Reiterating his determination as to no compromise regarding delegates, Roosevelt wired his Ohio manager, Walter Brown, stating that he would not sanction any agreement. He said Ohio supported him by thirty thousand plurality and that to concede Taft a single delegate-at-large would be to frustrate the people's will.

Colonel Roosevelt's telegram to Brown, read:

"I have just seen a telegram from the President to Arthur Vorys declaring that he would tolerate no compromise in Ohio. Until I saw the telegram I had never heard a suggestion there was to be a compromise. I assume that such suggestions came from the Taft forces. In the first place I would not consent to any compromise. Second, we carried the Ohio popular primary by 30,000. Any attempt to give Taft a single delegate-at-large would mean a deliberate effort to defraud the people by trickery and nullify their expressed will. The President has no moral or equitable claim to a delegate from Ohio. With this issue clearly made; we stand for the right of the people to choose their own candidates and to have the delegates carry out their choice."

DIXON DENOUNCES NEW

FOR INSULT TO ROOSEVELT
WASHINGTON, May 31.—A bitter denunciation of Harry New, chairman of the National Republican committee, for what he terms a "gratuitous insult to the only living ex-president," in denying Colonel Roosevelt tickets to the National Republican convention was voiced today by Senator Dixon, Roosevelt's campaign manager.

"This performance by Taft's personal representative is on a par with the cheap, petty larceny policy governing the Taft campaign throughout. New's insult may yet bear bitter fruit. According to the published reports tickets are already quoted at $50 each. Republicans should be interested to know by what authority New arrogated to himself their distribution."

ROBINSON HAS NOT HEARD OF U. S. I. W. W. PROBE IN SAN DIEGO

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—The Federal probe of the I. W. W. scheduled to be resumed today was delayed until Tuesday, Federal Attorney Robinson stating that pressure of other matters is the cause. He denied that the delay was occasioned by the report that the United States attorney general had authorized a similar investigation in San Diego.

Robinson has received no confirmation of the report that Attorney General Wickersham had authorized a federal grand jury investigation at San Diego of I. W. W. activities. He said that such procedure would at least be unusual because a federal jury was now similarly investigating here.

DENYING CHARGE GAVE HIMSELF UP

Macdonald Declares Accusations Put Up Job to Get Him Out of School

FRIEND TOLD HIM WARRANT WAS OUT

Former School Principal Under Felony Cloud Went to County Jail Yesterday

Yesterday morning about 10 o'clock R. C. Macdonald walked into the county jail and gave himself up to Jailor Jernigan. He declared that he was in the northern part of the state when he was informed that there was a charge against him here, and he immediately came back to face the accusation. He declares that he is innocent, that the accusations are a "put up job to force him to leave town, and that he is satisfied that he can prove his innocence. Macdonald left Santa Ana on Wednesday, May 22. That same day District Attorney West first heard of the charges of misconduct, and a complaint was prepared and a warrant issued. The complaint is sworn to by Mrs. Dora Hamblenton, a widow, of West Third street, who alleges that her daughter, Helen Hamblenton, was mistreated at Macdonald's home on Sunday, May 12.

Macdonald says that he was in Los Angeles seeking another position as a teacher, until Sunday, May 22, when he went north and was at his father's home when he was informed by a friend that the police were hunting for him.

"I am not guilty," said Macdonald, "and I came back to fight the charges to the bitter end."

Many of the details of the incidents having to do with the affair are admitted by Macdonald. He says that the girl's mother requested him to help her in finding some kind of occupation for the girl, and on the request of the mother she was allowed to go to the schoolhouse on Saturday afternoons to learn typewriting. He says that his wife was friendly with many of the students, who visited her frequently, and she had told them not to stop to ring the bell but to walk in. On May 12, Helen Hamblenton walked. Macdonald says she was there but a few minutes and not for the length of time alleged by a witness, Moody, who followed the girl to the house and says he saw her go in and come out.

Macdonald is very bitter in his denunciation of R. C. Snodgrass, janitor of the McKinley School, of which Macdonald was principal. He says that some time ago there arose a difficulty in which Macdonald took the part of others against the janitor, and that since then the janitor has been plotting to drive Macdonald from the city.

Macdonald says he believes that some of his enemies, intent on getting him out of the school, left faked telegrams on his porch, of which Macdonald was principal. He says that some time ago there arose a difficulty in which Macdonald took the part of others against the janitor, and that since then the janitor has been plotting to drive Macdonald from the city.

VETERANS OF '60s MET TO HONOR THEIR DEAD

Scattered Flowers on Soldiers' Graves---
Marched to Hear Memorial Song and Speeches for Comrades

Decoration Day was fittingly observed yesterday in Santa Ana. Public buildings and many homes were decorated with "Old Glory," and throngs witnessed the decorating of the graves of the soldier dead in Santa Ana Cemetery in the forenoon, and attended Decoration Day services at the opera house in the afternoon. A perfect wealth of flowers was taken to the cemetery and the beautiful custom of scattering flowers over the graves was participated in by the G. A. R. posts of Santa Ana and Orange and their affiliated societies. The ritual ceremony was conducted by Gordon Granger Post of Orange, and was perfect in its impressiveness and solemnity. Particularly impressive was the ritualistic rite of scattering flowers and greenery in commemoration of the unknown dead. Never have there been so many flowers used in all of the ceremonies, tributes coming from many sources, and never have so many people gathered in Santa Ana Cemetery to honor the memories of the heroes of the Civil War.

The start to the cemetery was made from G. A. R. headquarters on East Fourth street at 8 o'clock, and the morning proved propitious for the reverent duties of the day.

In the Afternoon

At 2 o'clock p. m. the parade formed in front of the G. A. R. Hall on East Fourth street, led by the Santa Ana City Band which discoursed appropriate music. Then came Co. L, N. G. C., its ranks filled with young men on the threshold of active life, a strong contrast to those who had fought in the '60s. Next in line were the Sons of Veterans, the loyal sons of loyal fathers. Then came the observed of all observers, the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic. Some of them were bent with years and illnesses; others were erect and soldierly in bearing, but all are patriots.

Following these were the patriotic organizations of women: The Woman's Relief Corps, the Ladies of the G. A. R., and the Daughters of Veterans. The line of March led from the G. A. R. Hall up Fourth street to Sacramento street, thence returning down Fourth to the Grand Opera House.

The exercises opened at the Grand at 2:30 p. m., with the house crowded with interested friends of the veterans. Following music by the band, Rev. Chas. H. Secombe gave the afternoon service, and Mayor Frank Ey delivered the address of welcome. The First Baptist choir under the direction of Prof. W. A. Benjamin, rendered two war numbers during the exercises, "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground" and "Marching Through Georgia."

There was the reading by Chaplain E. S. Haughwout of General Order No. 1, creating Memorial Day. A. E. Koepsel read Lincoln's Gettysburg address and Mrs. George S. Smith read the poem, "Hear the Drums Pass By." Both of these were well delivered. A list of comrades who had died during the past year was read with "taps" for each name. This was as always, an affecting part of the program, as it called to mind how rapidly the old veterans are dropping off from life's roster.

A solo was finely sung by Prof. W. A. Benjamin. Then came the splendid Memorial Day address by Hon. Freeman H. Bloodgood of Inglewood. The singing of America by the audience closed Memorial Day exercises for 1912, and as the audience dispersed each person felt a renewed devotion to the flag and a deeper reverence for the men who fought that that flag might be preserved as the symbol of a free and undivided country.

THERE WILL BE TWENTY-FOUR NAMES ON FREEHOLDERS AALLOT

There will be at least twenty-four names on the ballot to be submitted to the voters on July 2 in the election of fifteen freeholders to the board that will frame a charter to be submitted to the people of Santa Ana.

As a result of the interest taken in the matter by the women's organization, nine nominations will be made. These nine are: Dr. J. M. Burlew, F. L. Andrews, Charles F. Heil, John McFadden, J. G. Quick, Herbert P. Rankin, W. C. Roberts, W. B. Tedford and R. J. Thompson. Steele Finley is verification deputy for Dr. Burlew, and E. C. Hoff has been employed by the women's committee to circulate the petitions of the remainder of the nine men. These petitions will probably all be fully signed to day and filed with the city clerk, where J. C. Metzgar, verification deputy for the fifteen men named at the conference of the directors of the Merchants & Manufacturers Association and Chamber of Commerce and City Trustees, has already filed their petitions.

The fifteen conference nominees are: John Cubbon, L. J. Carden, S. H.

FRANKLIN NAMES DARROW AS MAN WHO GAVE HIM BRIBE MONEY

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—Bert Franklin today swore on the witness stand that Clarence Darrow gave him $4,000 for the specific purpose to bribe Geo. N. Lockwood. He declared Darrow secured the money through Attorney Job Harriman. Attorney Harriman and Darrow were sitting together, the testimony of Franklin. Neither showed that they were effected by it. Earl Rogers, Darrow's counsel, caused a sensation by declaring that Franklin's testimony impressed him as recitation of something prepared by the prosecution.

Franklin testified, "I saw Darrow on the morning of November 28. I asked him if he had the money. He said he had not but would telephone to Job (Harriman) and see how soon he could get it. He rang up some one on the telephone to ask if Job was there. In a few minutes Harriman entered the room. He and Darrow went into another room. After a few minutes Darrow returned and handed me a roll of bills."

Attorney Ford questioned: "How much was in the roll?" Franklin re-

ELOQUENT IS MEMORIAL ADDRESS

Hon. Freeman H. Bloodgood Paid Tribute to Men Who Fought and Died for Country

PAISED NOBLE WOMEN WHO LENT CHEER AND AID

Drew Lessons of Patriotism and Duty From Heroic Lives of Soldiers

The Memorial Day address given at the Grand Opera House yesterday afternoon before the Veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic and the allied patriotic auxiliaries and hundreds of patriotic citizens was given by Hon. Freeman H. Bloodgood of Inglewood. It was eloquent and logical, paying tributes to the men who gave their young strength and even life itself to the preservation of the Union; to the great martyr, Abraham Lincoln, and the leaders of the struggle. From the story of the war he deduced the lessons of patriotism and splendid living.

Excerpts from the splendid address are given below:

Memorial Day Address

Eloquent memory today calls up the events of '61, and we, the recipients of the blessings for which those brave ones fought and bled, have met to pay tribute to the honored dead growing more heroic as the years go on.

While some of us who meet today may not have been heroes in the fight, may not have been moved to noble deeds by the song and speech which prompted you, still we most heartily endorse the principles for which you fought and established, and as evidence of the fact that we love our country, we are willing to pledge ourselves to its support and defense should questions arise involving its safety and welfare.

I believe that one great source of national strength and perpetuity rests in the loyalty and patriotism of her sons and daughters, that only as they are willing to rally to the standard and maintain their country's power and prestige among the kingdoms of earth will that nation be enabled to secure to its citizens the blessings of liberty and be enabled to withstand the decaying touch of time. It is therefore eminently fitting that we should thus assemble and reconsecrate ourselves to our country's service—to fan into flame by the breezes of flag and banner the dying embers of patriotic fires.

According to our ideas of liberty and equality each succeeding age has made some advancement over the preceding. There is a vast difference between the principles for which America has fought and those principles which have moved former nations to war.

With the European nations the leader alone bore the palm of victory. With us every soldier was to wear a crown. They fought to check the liberties of mankind; we fought for broader liberties. With them the few rule; with us the many.

If Americans have anything to be thankful for it is that slavery no longer points at us a finger of scorn. Yes, but ah, the cost! Vast armies such as the world has never seen before met each other in a death struggle. Blood ran as free as water; the ear of pity heard not, and the eye of sympathy saw not; the fountain of love ceased flowing, and the death sickle mercilessly reaped the harvest in the field of human life. Farms were laid waste, plantations devastated, cities were burned and thousands rendered homeless. Factories were locked up, the wheels of industry ceased rolling, a debt of $2,500,000,000 was incurred, 500,000 lives were sacrificed, and fully as many more men received wounds or contracted incurable diseases. Aye, and that is not all. Would you know the whole cost of the war, go coin the tears of fathers and mothers whose boys on battle field had breathed their last; go coin the sorrows of widows whose husbands came not back; go coin the tears of little ones of brothers and sisters, of friends and sweethearts who said goodbye to their dear ones forever.

Can we ever repay the brave ones who so nobly battled for the right? No. Money will not do it; reverence and respect will not do it. These can only in part express the merited gratitude we owe. By pensioning the needy and comforting the lonely, we can in part relieve the sorrow and hardship of those who felt the terrible blow; but this cannot restore the wasted strength of the soldier—it cannot unsilver those premature gray hairs nor can it bring back to the lonely family the absent father. Still you may cherish this consolation in your hearts, and ones, that no

UNIVERSITY SUMMER SESSION TO HAVE ENROLLMENT OF 2,000

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, May 27.—Lecturers and students are already beginning to gather at Berkeley, in readiness for the summer session of 1912. Laboratories, classrooms, machine shops, museums, collections, and athletic apparatuses are being overhauled, and everything being made ready for the two thousand or more students who are expected for the University's summer term.

To give men and women of all ages the opportunity of University instruction, instead of teaching only college youths—this is the spirit in which the University of California has planned the summer session. Work will begin June 24 and end August 2. Anyone may enroll as a student, without entrance examinations and without limitations as to previous training. Those who prefer may come as auditors, with no responsibility for performing allotted tasks. Of the 1950 students in the last summer session of the University of California, three-fifths were teachers; only 375 were still college students; 415 represented thirty different occupations. Of the 1950, more than one-fifth had already received a University degree.

Night courses, so planned that men and women employed through the day may spend their evenings, for six weeks, receiving regular University instruction which counts toward a degree, will be an important new development in this year's summer session. Among these evening classes will be courses in business organization and management, by Stephen W. Gilman, Professor of Business Administration in the University of Wisconsin; in commercial law and the law of bankruptcy and insolvency; in "contemporary political questions"; lectures in Spanish on the Spanish drama of today, by Professor Espinosa of Stanford, and an account of American literature, by Edwin W. Bowen, Professor of English in Randolph-Macon College; and lectures on Greek art and culture by Professor Oliver M. Washburn, the University of California archaeologist, illustrated by the stereopticon and by the casts of Greek and Roman sculpture and the original antiquities from classic lands in the rich collections given to the University by Mrs. Phoebe A.

Hearst. Another notable course will be a series of evening lectures in which Dr. Wilbur A. Sawyer, Director of the California State Hygienic Laboratory, and a group of other men engaged in public health work, will discuss ways and means of stamping out disease and giving mankind health and long life through the achievements of preventive medicine.

Migration of students from university to university, a custom which prevails in Germany and which much enriches a student's mental life, is little practiced in America. The summer session at Berkeley represents a contribution to this need, for many hundreds of graduates, students, and teachers from other universities and colleges here taste for a few weeks the life of the University of California, and have the profit of comparison of methods of men.

Moreover, here the mountain comes to Mahomet, for it is an especial quality of the summer session at the University of California that its faculty is drawn from all over America. So California-bred students have opportunity to see how men are taught at Princeton, Michigan, or Yale. Among the men from other universities in next summer's faculty at Berkeley will be Stockton Axson, Professor of English Literature at Princeton, who will give the course on Eighteenth and on Nineteenth Century Literature; C. H. Van Tyne, Prof. of American History at Michigan; Dr. Creighton Wellman, Professor of Preventive Medicine at Tulane (New Orleans), will teach teachers how to teach hygiene; and Maurice A. Bigelow, Professor of Biology in Teachers' College at Columbia University, who will discuss the teaching of biology in the high schools; Director William G. Anderson and William L. Anderson of Yale and Dr. Clark W. Hetherington, Director of the Joseph W. Fels Endowment in Play and Educational Athletics, and Dr. Everett C. Beach, medical and physical director of the schools of Los Angeles, all to teach methods of physical education and playground work; E. C. Hills, Professor of Roman Languages in Colorado College; Dr. Reinhard Thom, who comes from Germany as a Prussian exchange teacher; and, for music, Arthur Cyril Graham, Organist at Plymouth church, Chicago, and Director in Theory in the Columbia School of Music; F. E. Chapman, Supervisor of Music in the Public Schools of Portland; and Thomas Whitney Bartlett, the composer, Staff Lecturer on Music of Oxford University.

Special training for special careers is sought by many of the summer session students. Some come for professional training in law. Teachers and those intending to be teachers are of course the class most numerous represented. For them, there is special training in teaching, some courses dealing with the famous Montessori methods, and others with teaching in agriculture, playground work and physical education, graphic art, music, manual training, and a wide range of the traditional subjects. Many summer students come primarily to freshen their intellectual interests, and to receive guidance for future reading and study. The departments from which courses may be chosen include agriculture, anthropology, anatomy, astronomy, botany, chemistry, economics, education, English, entomology, French, German, geography, graphic arts, Greek, history, home economics, Latin, law, library methods, manual training, mathematics, music, paleontology, philosophy, physical education, physics, physiology, political science, public health, Spanish, stenography and typewriting, surveying and zoology.

It has been said recently that the schools and colleges spend their energies training women for careers ninety per cent of them will never follow, while neglecting, meanwhile, to train them for expert success in the career which most of them will pursue—marriage and the home. The summer session pays special heed to this need, for it offers courses in cookery, including the study of foods as to their source, composition and nutritive value; the preparation, cooking and serving of typical dishes; the adaptability of various foods as to different cooking processes, combinations, and diets; recipes and menus; fruit preserving; and table setting and serving. Courses are to be given, also, in sewing, including the fundamental stitches and their applications; design of household articles and garments; the use and care of the sewing machine; the use of patterns; the tailoring of garments; cutting and fitting, and patching and darning.

The cool and delightful summer climate of Berkeley is one of the many reasons why the summer session of the University of California has become one of the most famous and most generously attended in America; this, and the notable distinction of the summer faculty and the summer courses, given in a proximity to the great modern city of San Francisco, which lends an added zest to a summer spent at the University of California.

BOYS CAN JOIN THE Y. M. C. A. NOW

Charter List of New Department Now Open For Enrollment of Juniors

Boys are to have a place in the Y. M. C. A. of Santa Ana, according to a decision of the members made at a business meeting of the Association Wednesday night. With 400 young men and business men in the Association it is now planned to open up a boys' department with 200 boys as the object. The charter roll will be kept open for a limited period, and all who join before the close of the time will have their names enrolled on the charter list of the Association. Some day when this is hanging in a handsome frame on the walls of the Y. M. C. A. building which the Association needs and which ought to come soon the boys whose names will be on this list will be proud of being among the first to join. The membership dues are $1 for a year from the time that the charter list is closed.

An eight-sided contest will be conducted for members and will close Monday night, June 17th, with a bonfire and wienie roast for all who have joined up to that time. The teams will be formed by the boys from the various schools, Washington, McKinley, Roosevelt, Lincoln, Jefferson, Tustin, Freshman High School and Sophomore High School. Every boy who secures five new members or more will be awarded a Y. M. C. A. pennant, and the boys in each team who secures the most new members will be awarded in addition a Y. M. C. A. job or badge. Any boy between the ages of 13 and 16 is eligible to join, but any members secured will count points for the teams.

Members joining now are eligible to try for the cross-country relay team, for the Y. M. C. A. boys' camp, and for the Y. M. C. A. oratorical league. Names of those joining will be entered on their teams and a bulletin put up in one of the store windows showing the team standings.

THE KEY OF KNOWLEDGE.

Things You Ought to Know—Especially Why God Has Permitted Evil. Every Christian Bible Student SHOULD KNOW the satisfactory proofs that the Bible is a Divine Revelation—reasonable and trustworthy—revealing a Plan which is systematic, full of Justice, Wisdom and Love.

The Key of Knowledge of the Scriptures, long lost (Luke 11:52), is found, and gives God's faithful people access to the "Hidden Mystery." (Col. 1:26).

YOU SHOULD KNOW that the Lord Jesus and his faithful are to be not only Priests but Kings.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that this Kingdom is to come and God's will be done at the Second Advent.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that God's Plan is to select and save the Church in the Gospel Age, and to use this Church in blessing the world during the Mediatorial reign on earth.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that a "Ransom for all" implies an opportunity for Restoration to all.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that the Day of Judgment is 1,000 years long—the world's Trial Day.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that the Spiritual and Human natures are separate and distinct.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that the "Narrow Way" of self-sacrifice will cease with this age.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that the "Highway of Righteousness" without suffering will be open to all of the redeemed race during the Messianic reign on earth.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that the Kingdoms of This World are but for an ordained period and must then give place to the "Kingdom of Heaven"—"Thy Kingdom Come." Especially

YOU OUGHT TO KNOW why God has permitted evil for six thousand years, and the relationship of God's people to this reign of sin and death and to the results.

These subjects and many others of deep interest to all of God's people are discussed fully and in language easy of comprehension in "THE DIVINE PLAN OF THE AGES."

Cider for Freckles

Since so many other simple home remedies have come in for a share of consideration in the treatment of these persistent little brown spots on the skin it would seem only fair to give this suggestion a trial. The method consists in washing the face each day with warm cider, which is said to remove the lighter ones. Darker ones, it is hinted, will come out with vinegar, but as this bath is very likely to burn the skin it is necessary to remove the vinegar with warm water and cold cream.

Sour milk left on the face and hands to dry is an acid that whitens the skin. If the wash leaves a sour odor on the skin remove with vinegar, hot water and then a good face cream.

Almond oil is used to bring the desired whiteness to the hands. The hands should be dipped in the oil, then in French chalk and incased in a pair of old gloves overnight.

Another plan recommended as a hand beautifier is to wash with peroxide, letting it dry on the hands, then rub in a good cold cream and don old kid gloves. In the morning wash off with lemon juice, vinegar or cider, hot water and a good skin cream.

CANAL TOLLS MUST FAVOR U. S. VESSELS

Otherwise Merchant Marine is Doomed by Railroads and Congress

LOS ANGELES TIMES BUREAU, WASHINGTON, May 29.—"Congress might as well pass a bill prohibiting vessels from flying the American flag as to charge tolls for American ships engaged in the coastwise trade," asserted William R. Wheeler of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, at a hearing recently before the Senate Committee on Inter-oceanic canals. Wheeler declared the result would be the same in both cases, only the method would be different.

"By the first," said Wheeler, "the American merchant marine would be driven from the seas by Congress and by the second it would be driven from the oceans by the railroads."

Contradicting the assertions of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company that cost to the consumer would not be affected whether or not American vessels were charged tolls, Wheeler pointed out that a toll of $1 per ton net additional cost of $2.50 a ton to the register would result in an ultimate consumer.

"No railroad owned ships favor free tolls," said Wheeler, "and it is obvious that the railroads want high tolls to protect the transcontinental freight rates. The merchants themselves are not interested in the toll question, but the producer and consumer are vitally interested, especially the former, as low traffic rates expand his markets."

Wheeler laid stress on the testimony of J. C. Stubbs, general traffic manager of the Harriman lines before the Interstate Commerce Commission recently in which Stubbs not only admitted but openly boasted that it was the policy of railroads to control their water competitors; that this was the general policy of the railroads.

"This is official evidence, taken before the Interstate Commerce Commission," declared Wheeler.

Referring to the New York, Oriental and San Francisco incidental steamship scheme Wheeler said the existence of such a scheme had never been known before the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and other commercial organizations on the Pacific Coast had adopted resolutions against allowing railroads owned or controlled vessels to use the canal.

"This was a scheme by which the Pacific Mail Steamship Company proposed to circumvent these protests by pretending to operate a foreign line with stops at San Francisco."

Taking up the contention of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company that foreign capital would build and operate ships through the Panama Canal if railroad-controlled lines are prevented from using the canal Wheeler said:

"We welcome the investment of foreign capital in American ships the same as we welcome foreign capital in American railroads."

Wheeler declared that he believed the prospects to be good, the bill passing the Senate.

Three-Year-Old Artist

London has just unearthed the youngest artist in the world. He is David Walton, three-year-old son of a Teddington man, and so far has progressed in his art that he is an exhibitor at the show of the Royal Drawing Society now open in the metropolis. His exhibition consists of a clever portrait of himself, a water color painting of a glass of lemonade and a rose and a design of a spring from his toy engine. He commenced to draw with charcoal when he was 11 months old, it is said, and progressed in pencil, colored chalk, pen and ink, and finally water color.

PERSONALITY OF TEACHERS

Teachers, whether in public school, college or university, are just human beings. Naturally they are not all perfect and perhaps none of them ever approaches perfection; indeed some of them sometimes go quite to the other extreme. But most of them are pretty well informed in the branches of knowledge they teach and most of them have earnest purposes back of their work.

Despite these facts, there is a feeling among parents, pupils and students, and some teachers, too, that pupil and teacher never come into close enough personal relations. The teacher rarely learns a pupil's ambitions, hopes, beliefs and pet theories. The pupil does not always get from the teacher the moulding influence of personality and character that closer contact would bring.

It is indeed a strong personality that can span the gap of formality in class room lectures and recitations. Many teachers possess such personality. Men who rarely meet their pupils at conferences or outside the class room may still live long in the memory of the pupil. Where classes are large, personal contact is almost impossible. In the smaller classes, the teacher can spare more time to each pupil.

No matter how exerted, the fact of personality is one of the strongest advantages any school, college or university has to offer. Graduates remember certain teachers long after they have forgotten what the teacher so carefully taught them. They remember him as a man of ideals, as a man of character, as a man to be studied. Few men ever graduate from any school without carrying away with them some such memories, perhaps not of more than one or two teachers, but nearly always of some one.

After all, the facts a man gathers at school, the information assimilated, are not the essential points of education. The average graduate carries away hazy ideas of text book knowledge. But there is that indefinable "something" that goes to make up the fruits of the years in school that stamps one as an educated man so deeply that clothes or surroundings can not hide the fact. If it isn't the effect of contact with personality that counts, what is it?

PASADENA GIVES SURPRISE

Riverside Press: All Southern California was surprised when it was announced a few days ago that Pasadena had voted "wet." To be sure this wetness was not of the type made familiar in some of the saloon towns happily not very common in Southern California, but still the vote provides for a more liberal policy in the handling of the liquor problem.

The question was submitted to the voters as an alternative proposition—those favoring a more liberal policy in regard to the liquor question being backed by a strong organization of business men under the designation of Citizens' association taking one side, and those who favored absolute prohibition lined up solidly on the other.

The Citizens' association amendment to the charter known as Amendment No. 10, polled a total of 5339 votes in favor, and 4979 votes were recorded against it.

The prohibition amendment, known as No. 11, had 4780 votes in its favor, and 5300 votes against it.

Pasadena has up to this time licensed the sale of liquor by druggists, hotels and restaurants. The big hotels charged that such restrictions, however, were placed on the traffic that they were compelled to violate the law or see guests go elsewhere where they could enjoy privileges they were used to. They claimed during the winter season they lost hundreds of guests on this account, and this fact gave birth to the Citizens' association. The amendment adopted will permit hotels to serve liquor in any form with meals at all hours.

The amendment providing for the commission form of government was adopted by a big majority—5647 votes being cast in favor of it, to 2386 votes against.

The amendment providing for the direct nomination at primaries of all municipal officers was also adopted.

It is estimated that the election will provide municipal aid of $5000 to $15,000 for promotion work for the city, a fund that will be available for general publicity and promotion work. Another fund of from $5000 to $10,000 a year for the use of charity workers is provided and will aid materially in caring for the indigent sick who are a problem in every Southern California city and which for the greater part are cared for by charity organizations composed of philanthropic citizens.

Pasadena gets into step, too, with present day thought in the adoption of a primary system.

But it is in the radical change of the city in dropping prohibition for what Pasadena papers call "strict regulation of the liquor traffic" that features the election. Speaking for itself, the Press believes that Pasadena has made a backward step; that it will lose in prestige and that its fair name and fame will be not a little dimmed by the saloon cloud. Many eyes will be upon Pasadena in its rather radical experiment.

In the Balance
Francis Kilkeney landed in Chicago some years ago, fresh from Ireland, with but a few dollars and no job in sight. He decided to buy a second-hand lawn mower and make some money cutting grass. He was directed to the north side of Chicago, and finally struck the place where the big houses and fine lawns were.

He went up to the steps of a mansion, hammered on the front door, and was vastly astonished to have a man stick his head out of an upstairs window and ask, "What are you doing there, you greenhorn? Can't you see this house is closed for the summer?"

"But you're in it," answered Kilkeney.

"Sure, I'm in it. I'm the caretaker. If you want anything just go around to the back door, where you belong."

Kilkeney started around, but came to a tall board fence that ran clear across the lawn and had spikes in it. He didn't see the door in the fence, and, after figuring for a time, put his lawn mower against the fence and tried to climb over, regardless of the spikes. The lawn mower slipped and Kilkeney stuck on one of the spikes and hung suspended.

The caretaker heard his yells and came out. Finding Kilkeney hanging there in the air, he looked up at him and said:

"Well, you are green! How long have you been over?"

"Begob," shouted Kilkeney, "I ain't over yet!"—Saturday Evening Post.

"When the Legislature convenes next winter it will be called upon to consider further the subject of water regulation. This subject was brought up at the 1911 regular session and again at the special session held in December. At the regular session the Water Board of Control was established to co-operate with the Conservation Commission, its general functions being to investigate the status of water rights and appropriated and unappropriated waters within the state. At the special session an effort was made to establish a general regulatory system, embracing a plan of adjudication of existing water rights; but the opposition was such that, coupled with the belief that the subject had not been sufficiently considered, but little was accomplished.

Since then the conservation forces have devoted much time to the framing of a bill to be taken into the legislature in 1913, and a tentative draft has been prepared, a copy of which has been forwarded to The California Outlook. At the request of this paper, Louis R. Glavis, secretary of the Conservation Commission, has briefed the provisions of the new bill as follows:

By Louis R. Glavis
Section 1 provides for the appropriation of surplus, underground and flood waters for any useful or beneficial purpose. The limit of water appropriation for water power purposes is forty years, and the limit of water placed upon appropriations of water for other purposes extends so long as the water is beneficially used. The most important feature of this bill is Section 2, which is intended to compel the riparian proprietors to declare the amount of water they are using or intend to use, giving them five years within which to put the water to a beneficial use; failure to do so forfeits their right. One familiar with the conditions in the state knows that many riparian proprietors while not using the water themselves, prevent it being used by anyone else, which it is believed accounts for so much arid land which could be properly irrigated with the water that is now being allowed to go to waste. I might state here that the main purpose of this bill is to obtain the greatest use with as little waste as possible. The bill provides for the appointment of three members, one of whom shall be an engineer, one a lawyer and one a business man, and two ex-officio members, being the Governor and State Engineer. The appropriation for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act as stated in this bill is $55,000.

Section 3 authorizes the State Water Commission to investigate all the streams of the state and to take testimony whether or not any of the water is unappropriated. In other words it will be an adjudication of all water rights; their findings of questions of fact shall be prima facie correct and shall be conclusive unless changed by judicial decree on a suit brought in a court of competent jurisdiction within one year after such findings. This is the same method employed in the administration of the water and water rights in the states of Oregon, Wyoming and a large number of other western states. It is found to be much fairer as well as expediting adjudication.

Several sections are devoted to defining underground water and the rights of the overlying land owners and provide a method for the appropriation of such water—the present law being silent upon this question, and since this method is continuously increasing it is very necessary that laws should be enacted defining such rights.

The filing fee for application to appropriate water for the purpose of generation of electricity is $250, and for other purposes a fee of $10 is required. In the event a license is issued a charge will be made of 20 cents for each theoretical horse power capable of development by the proposed works, or if the purpose of use is for other than power, an annual charge of 25 cents per miner's inch is required, and when it is considered that one miner's inch will irrigate at least two acres, the charge to the farmer for water for irrigation amounts to only 12 1/2 cents per acre per year, one which will work no hardship on even the smallest appropriators; but such fees while small to the individual will result in a very large tax collectively and will make within a few years the Commission not only self-supporting but also permit quite a sum to be deposited annually in the state treasury.

Revenge
Morry and gay had been the evening party. Everybody had done their share in entertaining the company except Jenkins.

At last, about midnight, when there was no one else left, the daughter of the house approached Jenkins, and asked him to oblige.

Jenkins was only too willing, but he thought it good manners to protest.

"Oh, Miss Clara," he said, "won't the neighbors object to my singing so late?"

Clara shook her bonny golden head. "That doesn't matter," she replied, "We don't care what they think. They poisoned our dog last week."—Answer, London.

Ninety-Four People in One Party Had Merry Picnic at Newport Decoration Day

Decorations Day was spent at Newport by the people from Clay and Good counties, Kansas, who live in Santa Ana and vicinity.

On the first morning of the party began to arrive, with their lunch boxes and baskets. The second car down at 8:10 was crowded and several families drove down. When dinner time arrived ninety-four people were seated to partake of the picnic dinner.

The children had no more than reached the beach with their shoes and stockings off and were wading in the water and playing in the sand to their hearts' content. The older people watched them anxiously until about 3:30 o'clock, when they made a rush to the bath house and followed the example of the children. The day was a lively and pleasant one and was enjoyed immensely by every one.

The evening car brought the party home, tired but happy; that is, it brought all those who didn't get left—and wishing that such days came oftener and that they may be shared with their friends in the East.

The families of the following enjoyed the picnic: Tom McCarter, Mr. A. A. Milligan, John Doer, Mr. McCarter, Chas. Boyer, W. R. Stevenson, E. G. Capstead, Wm. Maize, Tom Elmore, E. H. Prince, D. P. Cook, W. W. Dunham, T. F. Brooks, M. L. Woodside, O. W. Johnson, Chas. Gillespie, Hugh McIntyre, R. E. Vincent, E. G. McKittick, Harm Rodgers. Besides these there were: Mrs. Jennie Dole, Miss Fannie Blackwood, Mrs. Tom McCarter, Jr., Jimmy McQueen, Mrs. Floyd Lake, Miss Roberta Williams, Mrs. Stidinger.

Friends who enjoyed the day with them were: Mrs. Margaret Washburn, T. L. Faris and family, A. C. Williams and family, Misses Myrtle and Nellie Cathcart, Miss Stella Burns.

Wedded Under Difficulties

Lloyd G. Hart and Miss Pearl Burdick, both of Los Angeles, went to the marriage home of the Rev. A. J. Smith last evening to have the ceremony.

Join their hands for life's journey, but as their marriage license had been issued in Los Angeles, they were informed that they would have to be married in Los Angeles County. At this news they expressed great disappointment, and the pastor to relieve the embarrassment of the situation, proposed to accompany them just over the county line and there say the important words. This was agreed to. So after the evening service, the happy pair, accompanied by the pastor, boarded a Los Angeles car, getting out of the car when they reached Arroyo. Alas, they found the station dark, and no one seemed to be in sight to witness the ceremony. But they followed disappointment for scarcely a moment had passed before the preacher discovered a wagon loaded with a fishing party from Whittier, and some of these he asked to act as witnesses. G. H. Simmons and Mrs. R. A. Hubbard, both of Whittier, will appear on the license which will be a precious possession of Mr. and Mrs. Hart.

So far the edginess, "True love never runs smooth," was verified in this case, so also was the other one, "All's well that ends well."

R. Pyke, pianist, will assist in the recital. These events have come to be a genuine pleasure to those who are privileged to be present.

To Attend Reception

Miss Adeline Hill, Miss Bernice McBride and Miss Jennie Smart, all of whom graduate from the kindergarten department of the Los Angeles Normal School tomorrow, took their party fiery with them this morning when they went to the city, as they will be guests tomorrow afternoon at a reception given at Pasadena by the kindergarten department alumni to the graduates from that department.

Hear Mission Play

A dozen members of the Tunstall Bell Society will go to San Gabriel today to hear the "Mission Play," so successfully running in the special playhouse erected for its production. Among those seen boarding an early trolley car this morning for San Gabriel were Mrs. Leiby, Mrs. Shatto, Mrs. McCharles, Mrs. Sherman Stevens, Mrs. C. F. Bennett. The party was accompanied by Mr. Bennett.

Good to Santa Barbara Home

Miss Isabel McFarlane who has been the house guest at the Brook Brookman home left today for her home in Santa Barbara. She has had a delightful visit here of a week or more, visiting Long Beach, Los Angeles and other places of interest with her hosts.

With Mr. and Mrs. Warren Brakeman, Misses Salile and Irene Catland, Miss McFarlane spent Decoration Day at Laguna Beach, the party motoring down there Wednesday evening and returning last night. The Mansour cottage was their temporary home.

COXEN-VANCE MARRIAGE

Simple Home Wedding Last Evening—Bride and Groom Leave for Home in Texas

With the bride's father, Rev. T. Vance, pronouncing the words of the solemn ceremony that made her the wife of the man of her choice, Miss Anna W. Vance was married last evening at 8 o'clock to Prof. James R. Coxen of San Marcos, Texas. The simple home wedding took place at the residence of the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. T. Vance, 415 West First street. Magnificent daisies, roses, dainty lilies, marguerites and geraniums were used in the decorations of the living room, where the ring ceremony took place.

The bride and groom were unattended, as they took upon themselves the marriage vows. The bride, who is a handsome girl, was most attractive in her wedding gown of white marquisette over white mesaline. She carried a shower bouquet of white bride roses. Her going away gown was a fashionably made tan linen, trimmed with marame lace and black velvet. The modish traveling hat and other accessories matched the traveling dress.

Beautiful gifts of cut glass and other valuable articles were bestowed on the young couple. Following the ceremony, a four-course wedding dinner was served in the dining room where exquisite Cecil Bruner roses were used in room and table decoration. The entire Vance family were represented at the wedding and the few guests were close friends of the bride. Seated at the long table were the bride and groom, Rev. and Mrs. Vance, Dr. Mabel Vance, and Miss Joy Vance of Riverside; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Moore and family, Mrs. E. A. McCall, of La Mirada; Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Vance, of Orange; Mr. Hale and Miss Jane Greenleaf, of San Diego; Miss May Pender, of South Pasadena.

Prof. and Mrs. Coxen left last night via the Santa Fe for Texas where Prof. Coxen is associated with the State Normal School. The bride, who is the sister of Dr. Mabel Vance of this place, has been teaching in South Pasadena High School. She cancelled the last month of her school engagement to meet the wedding date, hurried up on account of Prof. Coxen's necessary return to his school duties at San Marcos. Mr. and Mrs. Coxen were formerly associated together in educational work in Las Vegas, New Mexico, and the romance of their acquaintance reaching its happy climax yesterday.

Lawn Party

The young ladies of the Philathea class of the First Presbyterian church Tuesday night entertained the young men of the Baraca class of that church with a lawn party at the R. A. Stock-slayer residence. Lanterns lighted the lawn over which were distributed tables and chairs. Punch was served throughout the evening, and refreshments, served on the small tables decorated with red and white flowers, consisted of chicken sandwiches, salad garnished with hearts cut from red beets, ice cream and cake.

The girls of the Zimmerman's Sunday school class assisted in serving. There were about eighty-five present and a delightful evening of games was spent.

West End Thimble Club

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. E. J. Foster of 303 West Santa Clara avenue entertained the West End Thimble Club, a goodly number of ladies being present. A profusion of pink roses adorned the house. Master Milton Foster presided.

All eyes were turned to the picture of her reading at each meeting. Mrs. Foster then treated the company to photograph selections.

Mr. J. S. Stephenson received a prize for the best conundrum. The contest was assisted in serving a two-course collation by Mrs. Weston.

The next meeting will be at Mrs. M. M. Elsworth's, 303 East Sixth street.

Postponed Music Section Social. Owing to the fact that the orchestra of "Ruth" will be produced on next Tuesday evening, June 4, the social meeting of the Eboli Music Section to have been held that evening, will be postponed till the evening of Tuesday, May 11. People Turned Roberts. Last night Manager Roberts of the Bell, had to turn many anxious visitors from his popular playhouse for lack of room, and this is not the first time that such has occurred at the Bell, as it is becoming more frequent every week. Last night's bill was so much out of the ordinary, that many who were there are still laughing for the Long and Short and Medium men of Col. Mack's Co., certainly have something new. The fun-makers will remain at the Bell for the remainder of the week. The picture bill is good, and a new program of comedy and drama will be shown Saturday and Sunday nights. Above all do not fail to see the Col. Mack Co.

STEEL BILL PASSED

Taft Expected to Veto It—Standpat Republicans Refused to Vote—Progressives Voted "No"

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The Democratic steel bill yesterday passed the final stage. The executive veto is deemed a certainty.

Standpat Republicans could have defeated the bill, but enough of them followed the example of Senators Penrose, Crane and Root, refusing to vote, to allow the Democrats to pass the issue up to the president.

All progressive Republicans, excepting Senator Grounau, voted against the bill, and if the "standpatters" had "stood pat" the bill would have been shelved. As it was, it passed, 22 to 35.

STRUCK WITH A HOE AND THEN ARRESTED

Fracas on Finley Ranch Ends in Jailing of Japanese Who Attacked Howard

Constables Jackson and Heard were called to the A. G. Finley ranch last evening on a report that an insane Japanese was running amuck with a rifle. It was not that bad.

The Jap, T. Takenago, and J. Howard have been working for Finley, and have had several disputes over their work. Yesterday afternoon, according to Howard's story, the Jap attacked him with a piece of gas pipe, and struck Howard on the nose. Howard knocked the Jap down with a hoe, cutting a gash in his scalp.

When the officers arrived, the Jap was in his house dressing his wound. A rifle was setting outside the door, but the officers did not learn that it had been used in any way.

His preliminary examination was set for June 4.

king's palace or gorgeous temple was ever adorned with such costly apparel as the faded cap and tattered coat of blue, worn by the heroes who fought for the right.

We must not forget that the noble women had a very important part in the preservation of the Union. When the fathers and husbands left home to join the army, the faithful women stood ready to lend a hand. Some assumed duties at the counter and desk, some managed the farm, some rocked the cradle and cared for the little ones who do not remember the last kiss their father ever imparted upon their baby cheeks.

The women of home wrote letters of love and good cheer to the boys at the front. The women were present in the hospitals, too, administering to the needs of soldiers who had been rendered helpless on the battlefield. They received and tenderly sent home the last message of the dying. Woman, thy presence lightens sorrow, thy smile engenders gladness, thy tender touch relieves the throbs of pain, thy gentle voice smooths roughened hearts and thy Christian virtues keep us near God.

Many lessons may be learned by a study of the events of 1861-65 and the lives of those who played such prominent parts. It teaches the youth of today to properly estimate his great advantages.

Young men, every one has a call to duty that is the kind of a call these heroes had—a call to duty. They went to the front and thousands of them fell upon the battlefield never knowing which side won the victory. But they were willing to die for the right, feeling full well that the right would triumph in the end. The call would ring clear as a bugle note all over this land. "Young men of America, do your duty. Enlist in the cause of truth and loyalty and society."

There are at least two good reasons why a high type of civilization should be perpetuated on this continent. One is that we may enjoy the pursuit of happiness ourselves, the other is that we may not lead the other nations astray. The eyes of the world are focused upon the United States. When the Declaration of Independence struck the death-blow to monarchy no single Caesar lay dying at the base of Pompey's statue, but every tyrant on earth felt the irresistible dagger of human thought. One by one they have been falling into line. Ours was the first written republican constitution ever adopted by a free people. All other republics, and there are over thirty of them now, have patterned after ours. Truly Columbia is called to fill a high destiny.

Let us go forth with renewed faith and increased courage resolved that this government, by, for and of the people, established by Washington and his patriots, preserved by Lincoln and his boys in blue, shall grow in strength and grandeur until the Judge of nations passes verdict on the works of man.

The Best Part

"Johnny," said a west end mother a few days ago, "you are now large enough and old enough to care for the baby for a few hours, and I wish you would look after him and feed him while I go over to see your grandmother, who is ill."

"Sure, mama!" proudly replied Johnny. "I can feed him, all right."

"Did the baby have plenty to drink?" asked the mother as soon as she returned.

"He drank the best part of a bottle of milk," replied Johnny.

"But the bottle is still nearly full," said the mother.

"That's so," agreed Johnny. "But when I said the best part I meant the cream off the top."

Modest Abbe Delle

It is said that the French Abbe Delle once had in his household a very quick tempered relative, with whom he sometimes had animated disputes and who sometimes went so far as to throw books at the abbe. The abbe must have been a person of great amiability and self control. Once, when a particularly large and heavy volume was thrown at him, he caught it gracefully and said: "My dear friend, I must beg of you to remember that I prefer smaller gifts."

ASK ELECTION GOOD ROAD BONDS

Associated Chambers of Commerce Wants Vote on Question Soon as Practicable

STATE HIGHWAY LEFT TO STATE COMMISSION

Sectional Differences Avoided
by Refusal to Endorse Any Specific Route

A resolution requesting the Board of Supervisors to call an election, as soon as possible, to vote on the question of issuing bonds for improving the roads of Orange County was unanimously adopted by the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County at the regular monthly meeting held at Westminster Wednesday evening. No specific sum was named, that matter being entirely within the province of the highway commissioners. Another resolution, also carried unanimously, heartily approved and urged the building of a state highway through the county, and pledging the support and assistance of the organization on whatever route may be determined as best by the State Highway Commission. This action apparently settles a question which threatened to array the cities of the interior against those along the coast and work serious injury to the effectiveness of the association.

The meeting was held in the Odd Fellows' Hall at Westminster, and was attended by about ninety visitors from all parts of the county. A report, such as they are justly famed for, was served by the ladies of Westminster.

The business session was called to order by President A. I. Stewart of Fullerton, and W. T. Wardle of Westminster welcomed the visitors in a few well-chosen words. The response was by W. A. Cornelius of Newport Beach.

Freight Rate Matters
On the roll call of committees A. A. Mills of Anaheim, for the committee on railroads and transportation, made a report of the progress of the movement to secure adjustment of freight rates in and out of Orange County. He cited several favorable decisions which have recently been made, covering points similar to those at issue here, and strongly advised that active proceedings be taken up. He said there was every prospect that Orange County would meet the same success as in the cases cited, and that by proper effort every freight rate in and out of the county could be put on a fair basis. The matter was allowed to go over until the next meeting in order that the full committee may consider it and report such steps as may be deemed advisable.

Bond Election Asked
For the committee on good roads Gus Stern of Fullerton offered a resolution requesting the Board of Supervisors to call an election as soon as possible to vote on good roads bonds. It set forth that the State Highway Commission has practically decided to build a road through the county, and that probably the route of El Camino Real will be selected. Therefore the county should be prepared to go ahead and build a system of connecting roads. The resolution was unanimously adopted without discussion.

For the harbor committee Lew Wallace of Newport Beach reported that the preliminary survey of Newport harbor, which has been ordered by the government, has been delayed owing to the fact that the engineer's department wished to have one certain engineer, Hughes, do the work, he being familiar with those waters. Mr. Hughes would be ready to take up the work by the middle of June or the first of July, said Mr. Wallace.

Much Road Talk
The next order of business was the matter, laid over from last month, of a recommendation by the association as to which route should be taken by the state highway through the county. A. L. Reed of Huntington Beach took the floor and said: "I think all of us stand about where we stood a month ago on this question. I therefore move that the entire matter be laid on the table indefinitely."

This started the ball rolling. W. A. Zimmerman of Santa Ana thought it would be very unwise to let the matter go by default, so to speak. He thought that it should be shown that Orange County wants a highway, and that a survey should be asked along the route already laid out, that is the interior route, as soon as possible.

W. A. Cornelius said the Associated Chambers could by no means go on record as not wanting a highway, but equally it could not favor one section of the county over another. To those favoring the interior route he said: "Put your claims before the Highway Commission, the same as we are doing in advocating the coast route, and let the commission de-

Summer complaint, which causes the death of many young children every season, is nearly always the result of germs in food. THESE ARE OFTEN CARRIED TO FOODS BY FLIES. KILL THE FLIES!

A. W. Griffiths of Huntington Beach proposed a compromise. "Let us pass a resolution asking the Highway Commission to put a road through the county, and let us know at the earliest possible moment the route which they propose to take, and then let us go ahead with our own system of roads."

President Stewart took the floor, and in opening said he wished to emphasize that there were no differences between the various delegates composing the body, except differences of enthusiasm. He said it has already been found that the fund provided by the $15,000,000 bond issue for road building is totally inadequate, and the question with Orange County is not where the road will go, but whether it will get a road. The Highway Commission will follow the line of least resistance in its work, and he thought El Camino Real would be selected for the reason that it can be built for less money than any other. He thought the matter of endorsement should be settled once for all. Unless the people of the county were united, he said, they would get no road at all.

Compromise Is Carried
Lew Wallace said he would be sorry to see the question cause any line-up of the coast cities against the interior, and he was willing to withdraw further urging of the coast route on the basis of a resolution declaring that the organization wants a highway, that it wants the State Commission to select the route and that it will get behind and boost such selection. He offered a motion to this effect in substitute for that of Mr. Reed and it was unanimously carried.

Mr. Stern moved that the secretary be instructed to invite the city of Stanton to join the association, and to send delegates to the next meeting. This was carried.

Supervisors Are Wanted

S. P. OFFICIALS MAY SOON BE INDICTED

U. S. Dist. Atty. McCormack
Probing Evidence in $15,-
000,000 Oil Land Case

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—United States District Attorney A. I. McCormack of Los Angeles is in San Francisco to investigate evidence to be presented by the government when the hearing on the $15,000,000 oil land suit against the Southern Pacific railroad is resumed in Los Angeles June 10.

The charge is that certain Southern Pacific officials who may be criminally indicted attempted to defraud the government by putting land to patent which they knew to be mineral bearing and worth millions.

Mr. McCormack declared that Attorney-General Wickersham was astonished by the evidence uncovered in the Los Angeles hearing.

The suit involves at least $15,000,000 worth of oil-bearing land in the Elk Hills district.

MAY FIND NEW USE FOR OIL FIELD GAS

Fullerton Tribune: W. J. Beacom, who is interested in the promotion of a company to manufacture carbon black from gas in the oil district, was a visitor at the Tribune office the past week.

Carbon black is used in the making of printers' ink and one company in San Francisco uses three carloads a year. By a special process it is manufactured in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Whether the gas from the Fullerton field will be suitable for the purpose must be learned by experts.

Mr. Beacom's father was the man who invented and patented the process. A plant for making carbon black from gas costs about $30,000. Few men are required in the work. Mr. Beacom has interested Los Angeles capital in the enterprise and was here to learn the source of the gas supply and its extent.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur. If properly prepared, The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

If you have dandruff, or if your hair is thin or turning gray, get a bottle of this remedy from your druggist to-day, and see what it will do for you.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

CALIFORNIA IS IN 'BILLIONAIRE' ROW

Marvelous Growth Places the State Among Front Ranks of the Nation

The annual report of the California Development Board for 1912 entitled "California Resources and Possibilities" proves the prodigious expansion of California in many lines of production and trade.

For the past 63 years of her existence, it says California's development as a state has probably never been paralleled. Reports of the last ten years show the increase of wealth in this state and the capital being yearly invested is marvelous.

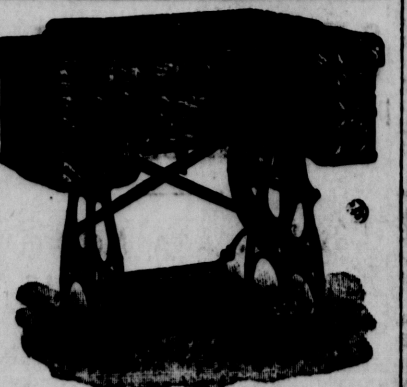

California produced in excess of one billion dollars in minerals, agricultural and manufactured products in 1911, according to the report. The Golden State has never reached this enormous sum any previous year.

Great Increase in Products
In the last ten years the value of manufactured products has increased 105 per cent, while the increase in the United States has been only 81 per cent.

Grand Total is Enormous
The products of farms, packing house and factory, with others of their kind, will total some $532,000,000, while manufactures as reported by the census were some $530,000,000, which brings the grand total up to about one billion dollars, after allowing some $61,000,000 for duplicates.

IMPROVING THE PACIFIC HIGHWAY

In fact, these officers, recognizing the inestimable value of this great highway, hope to establish a standard of improvement that will be carried out all along the line.

WEATHER REPORTS TO AND LOS ANGELES

U. S. Weather Bureau New Re-quires Angel City Data in Twice-a-Day Bulletins

Los Angeles Examiner: President H. Z. Osborne of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is of the opinion that the newly adopted rule of the United States Weather Bureau which requires that Los Angeles reports be included in the twice-a-day bulletins of the weather offices of 47 of the leading cities of the country, will do more for the advertisement of this city than anything else the government has done for that purpose.

For several years efforts have been made by the California Congressional delegations to get the weather bureau to make this change, but for various reasons these efforts were fruitless. It remained for Mr. Osborne to bring about this new ruling when he was in Washington several weeks ago.

In addition to having the weather reports of this city added to the twice-a-day reports of 27 other cities, the bureau has arranged to have them added once a day to bulletins of several other cities. Thus every city of importance in the United States will have reports of weather in this city each day.

It is believed by Mr. Osborne that people everywhere must be impressed with what they learn in that way of Los Angeles climate and will have a growing desire to come here, at least for a visit.

"I have been receiving reports from these cities to which the Los Angeles weather reports were added, and by checking up I find that we now have our reports on almost all the bulletins of the country," declared Mr. Osborne in discussing the subject.

"I don't know of anything the government could do to help so much in the way of advertising as to spread before the country our weather reports."

As a summer resort as well as a winter resort, Los Angeles is gaining a distinction that no other city in the country seems to have ever enjoyed. The fact that it seems almost impossible to build houses on the beach near Los Angeles fast enough to accommodate the growing demand for summer as well as winter use, is pointed to as a proof of this.

MINIMUM WAGE HABIT IS FAST SPREADING THROUGH ENGLAND

All Workers Want It—Miners Said to be Making Good Wages—Professions Are Also Interested Now

By Ed. L. KEEN,
London Correspondent of the United Press.

LONDON, May 28.—The minimum wage habit in England is spreading. Encouraged by the recent success of the coal miners in getting Parliament to apply the principle to their particular trade, workmen of various industries throughout the country are busily organizing and agitating for similar recognition. However, they will demand, when the time comes, that the law-makers go further than they did in the case of the miners.

While it is not hoped that Parliament will, for the present at least, recede from its position in refusing to fix a definite scale, leaving the adjustment of prices to trade boards, labor leaders generally feel that it is only reasonable to demand a penal clause in any future legislation on the subject, such as was included in the law of two years ago, whereby a heavy penalty is provided for employers who fail to pay the minimum fixed by the boards acting under the measure. This law, which went into effect on Jan. 1, 1910, applies only to the so-called sweat trades—tailoring, card box-making, lace-making, etc.—wherein the wages were notoriously inadequate, even among the better paid employees. The coal mines minimum wage law is not nearly so comprehensive or drastic, but according to reports from the various districts where joint boards are adjusting wage prices, the miners are getting in many instances approximately the figures which they tried to induce Parliament to incorporate in the bill.

These reports are having their effect not only on the men who work with their hands, but those who use their brains to earn their daily bread. The various professions have become interested in the general movement, whose cardinal principle is combination of the strong for the betterment of the conditions of the weak. The doctors, some 22,000 of them, had already combined for a general increase of the fees to be paid for medical services under the Lloyd George Workmen's Insurance Act. Since then the minimum wage agitation has extended literally from the stage to the pulpit.

Shortly after the vocal section of the Amalgamated Musicians' Union put forward its demand upon the theatrical and music hall managers for the establishment of a minimum of $9 a week for chorus girls, the Baptist Union held a big convention in London, at which a resolution was adopted providing for a minimum scale of pay for preachers of that denomination, and raising the nucleus of a fund to carry out the scheme. Introducing the resolution, Rev. J. H. Shakespeare, secretary of the Union, in justification of this departure from pure independency, said: "For 300 years independency has pursued its great way, but it has been an iron way, and there can be no doubt that beneath its merciless, though often triumphant car, the average and obscure have been crushed and bruised as they have not been under any other ecclesiastical system in the world." Dr. George Clifford, advocating the minimum scale, declared that one reason so many down-town churches were being converted into moving-picture theaters was that the minister simply could not be sustained by the congregations there. "We must see to it that remuneration for the pastor's work," he said, "is based on quality and quantity, rather than upon accidental conditions."

Since the convention adjourned, the endowment fund under which the Baptist church in England is to pay the new scale, has been increased to $275,000. A million and a quarter dollars will be necessary to insure a sufficient income to raise the present salaries of lily paid preachers to the proposed minimum of $600 a year in the case of unmarried men, and $750 for married men.

The example set by the Baptists is bound to have its effect in other denominations, and in some of them similar movements are under way.

Famous Treasures
When King Henry VIII gave one of his favorites, Richard Page, a chunk of the land he had stolen from the abbey near London, he did not appreciate the amount of work he was piling up for the present day courts. Nor did he imagine that the land would be worth $150,000,000 today, else that greedy monarch would probably never have parted with it. Yet that is the reputed value of the portion of west and northwest London and county of Middlesex comprising the Page estates, and despite endless lawsuits nobody seems to know to whom it really belongs now or who is pocketing the revenues.

There are several famous lawsuits which crop up periodically in England. One is the Jennings case, in which the descendants of a certain Richard Jennings have been trying for 170 years to establish their claim to the earldom of Howe. The Curzon-Howes are still earls of Howe and owners of the Howe estates and it looks as though they would continue so. Then there is the Duke case, involving a claim to the Duke of Portland's estates and title, the last hearing of which was notable for the exposure of the perjurer Caldwell, who escaped an English jail by being kept in an American lunatic asylum. But the most famous of all is the "Page Millions" case, in which the various litigants are in the habit of suing each other indiscriminately and perennially.

The bone of contention is a will made in 1829 by Henry Page, the then holder of the property, in favor of one Henry Young. The property was then mostly undeveloped land and was valued at something like $25,000, but the advent of railways and modern building operations has transformed it into some of the most valuable land in London. The validity of the will is questioned on the ground that Henry Young used undue influence and did not prove that he will properly, and alternately that the real Henry Page carelessly died some fifteen years before the will was drawn up. Nobody has been able to establish this, however, and the will has been allowed to stand, but the estate now seems to have been hopelessly engulfed in the mass of litigation, leases, assignments and claims of intestate heirs. The latest litigant, Mrs. Charlotte Tarpender, sued a descendant of Henry Young in respect of the will, but the defendant possesses only a fraction of the estate. President of the Probate Court Sir Samuel Evans turned down the petition in the usual manner, wearily remarking that he wished he knew where the estate was and to whom it belonged. "As nobody seems to claim proprietorship of all these millions," he observed sadly, "someone might distribute them among us."

GERM LADEN DUST CAUSES CATARRH
Ely's Cream Balm Kills the Deadly Catarrh Germs—No Stomach Dosing
—Catarrh, which is bad enough in itself, often results in loss of taste, smell and hearing, and leads to serious throat and lung troubles if not promptly checked. The seat of catarrh is usually in the back of the nose, and its natural course is downward, into the throat and thence to the lungs.
Don't take any chances. If you have any symptoms of catarrh—stuffed up feeling in the head, nasty discharge from the nose, sore throat, or dry, hacking cough, get a fifty-cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and begin the treatment at once.
This remedy is not a "burning out" or "drying up" process. It is simply a cleansing, healing, antiseptic Balm, taken through the nostrils back into the head and throat where it instantly reaches the seat of the trouble. That's the only way to effectually and permanently cure catarrh.
Catarrh makes you offensive to yourself and friends. Start using Ely's Cream Balm today, and in a short time you will be permanently cured of this nasty, disgusting disease.

Why Not?
—"Would you buy an automobile if it was pretty as a picture?" Yes, if it had a good frame.
The Imperial auto has as good a frame, handsome a shape and as pretty a design as any car on the market today and the price is so moderate that any one can afford to buy it. If you have any doubts come, see and be shown. Every user of one has only words of praise for it. Every car is fully equipped. No extras to buy to start on a trip. You merely start the engine and you are off. Hills, sand or macadam all look alike to her engine. Ask for Thelan at Guarantee Garage, Second and Bush streets, Santa Ana.

Divorces in Hungary are Available Only To the Better Classes—More This Year Than Ever Before

(By Karl H. von Wiegand, Berlin correspondent of the United Press.)
VIENNA, May 31.—Budapest, the beautiful capital of Hungary located on the romantic Blue Danube, is having a "big crop" of divorces this year, according to figures just made public. It threatens to become the "Reno" of the continent because of the ease and frequency with which the matrimonial bonds are severed. More divorces have already been granted in the first four months of 1912 than during the entire last year. Divorces in Hungary, as in nearly all European countries, are available only to the better classes. It costs more money to have the knot untied than to have it tied.
Particularly have divorces been numerous this year in high society, and many amusing incidents are told of the meeting of ex-wives and ex-husbands in fashionable drawing rooms and at other social functions. In ninety per cent of the cases, it is said, the proceedings were instituted by the husband. It is a trifle embarrassing to a man to kiss the hand of his former wife, the "divorcee," as it is called, unwittingly presented to him by the hostess, particularly when he divorces her on the ground of infidelity.
A prominent Budapest nobleman, to avoid the possibility that their friends might forget he changed relations in his family, sent out the following card: "Baron X and his former wife, who was Miss So and So, have the honor and pleasure to announce that they are divorced."
Happy to have rid himself of a wife, in which he did not succeed without much trouble and expense, a college professor recently made public announcement of the fact in one of the big Hungarian dailies, as follows: "All my friends are duly notified: That, thanks to the justice of God, I have finally succeeded in freeing myself from my misery and wretchedness. The marriage with my beloved wife brought me only sorrow, bitter disappointment, care and worry. In these times of the high cost of living, a school professor can not even be happily married when his wife is not a Kantippe—to say nothing when she is one. I have the honor and pleasure to announce myself as divorced. I beg my friends to receive this with joy and delight and my enemies with envy."

The following day in the same paper and in the same place, equally as prominently displayed, the wife announced her engagement to another professor—an intimate friend and colleague of her divorced husband, which she also begged her friends to "receive with pleasure." That was her reply.

Constitution Suspended
The suspension of the constitution in Croatia and the rigorous repressive measures inaugurated there by the Austrian government, has had the usual contrary effect of adding to the unrest, agitation and discontent of the Croats, instead of whipping them into a more obedient frame of mind. The Croats insist they were strictly within their personal constitutional rights in giving vent to their dissatisfaction with the imperial government out of which grew the action which resulted in the suspension of the constitution, and inaugurating a military regime. The restlessness in Croatia threatens to spread to other parts of the empire, which may but intensify the already precarious situation that confronts the so-called "dual monarchy" of Austria-Hungary.
Emperor Franz Joseph is having a difficult time in his old days maintaining his imperial authority among the 26 nationalities that make up the "dual monarchy." Even his alleged threat to abdicate has failed to placate Hungary. Three Minister-Presidents have so far failed to bring about a settlement of the difficulties between the two countries. The principal bone of contention is the insistence of Hungary that in order to call out the Hungarian Reserve, which in a measure corresponds to the American National Guard, the Emperor of Austria, who also is King of Hungary, must have the consent of the Hungarian Parliament. Emperor Franz Joseph declares that would be taking from him one of his royal prerogatives as King and insists upon his right to call out the Reserve regardless of the wishes of the representatives of the Hungarian people.

The suspension of the constitution in Croatia and the rigorous repressive measures inaugurated there by the Austrian government, has had the usual contrary effect of adding to the unrest, agitation and discontent of the Croats, instead of whipping them into a more obedient frame of mind. The Croats insist they were strictly within their personal constitutional rights in giving vent to their dissatisfaction with the imperial government out of which grew the action which resulted in the suspension of the constitution, and inaugurating a military regime. The restlessness in Croatia threatens to spread to other parts of the empire, which may but intensify the already precarious situation that confronts the so-called "dual monarchy" of Austria-Hungary.

Aside from the fact that the Emperor of Austria is King of Hungary, that the two countries have a common minister of war, and that Austria represents Hungary in all foreign affairs, Hungary has its own distinct government, cabinet and parliament. The minister-president, appointed by the Emperor of Austria, is the link between the Hungarian and Austrian governments.

With a sharp increase in the army and navy of Germany, it has been intimated to Austria, that as a member of the Triple Alliance, it ought to follow suit and strengthen its military forces. This has been another question over which Austria and Hungary have been unable to come to an agreement.

The newly appointed Hungarian Minister-President, von Lukacs, has rebuilt the Hungarian cabinet and has made some progress in smoothing out the differences between the governments in Budapest and Vienna. The Kossuth party or, as they are fond of being called, the "Kossuth Patriots," have dreams of Hungary again becoming a kingdom, quite independent of Austria. The Vienna Press, on the other hand, points out that the moment Hungary separates from Austria, it becomes nothing but a "semi-independent Balkan state."
